Colored Bishops in City Pulpits.—Nearly all of the colored Protestant churches in Baltimore had preaching yesterday by members of the Baltimore African Methodist Episcopal Conference. Bishop Moses B. Salters, of Charleston, S. C., preached at Waters Chapel, the seat of the conference, and assisted Bishop Gaines, of Atlanta, Ga., the president of the body, to ordain I. E. Showell and J. H. Wooten to elders' orders, to which they were elected on Saturday, and A. A. Murrah, Noah M. Brown, John F. Wallace and Joseph B. Cordell to deacons' orders. B. H. Davis, S. Dorton, J. C. Gutridge, J. H. Keats and R. Thompson were ordained local deacons. Bishop Handy, of Kansas City, preached in the morning at Bethel Church, and with Bishop Gaines and Bishop Salters attended a Sunday-school celebration in the afternoon at the same church. Bishop A. W. Wayman preached at night at Waters Chapel and Bishop Salters preached at Ebenezer Church.

The principal feature of Saturday's sessions was the visit of Mayor Latrobe, who responded to the invitation sent him by the conference on Friday and made an address. He told of his interest in and sympathy with the colored people and told them that it was to their interests as well as to that of the country at large that the colored man should be a good citizen. Rev. W. B. Derrick, secretary of the home and foreign mission board, responded. Rev. J. H. Scott was transferred to the conference from Virginia Conference.

William Chew, Amos Henderson and J. R. Nelson were continued on trial in the class of the second year.

Hagerstown was selected as the place for the meeting of conference next year.
